

Friday, May 29, 2009

Best of Building Brooklyn in Flatbush

Triangle Junction Mall

Morris Manor

The Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce and its Real Estate & Development Committee today announced the winning projects for its 2009 Building Brooklyn Awards™. The largest annual real estate industry event in the borough, the Building Brooklyn Awards (BBA) recognizes recently completed construction and renovation projects that enrich Brooklyn's neighborhoods and economy.

Of the 12 winning projects to be recognized at the 2009 Building Brooklyn Awards, two are in Flatbush:

Morris Manor – Affordable Housing, Flatbush (designed by local architect Cindy Harden of Harden + Van Arnam). We wrote about it last here.

Triangle Junction Mall – Economic Development, Flatbush

In addition to recognizing construction projects, BBA honors individuals who have made significant contributions toward enhancing the business conditions and economic climate of Brooklyn. This year's Building Brooklyn Awards honorees are renowned architect Richard Meier, FAIA of Richard Meier & Partners Architects, LLP and Joanne M. Oplustil, executive director of CAMBA.

Congratulations!

Posted by Liena at 12:00 PM

0 Comments:

Post a Comment

Newer Post Older Post Home

Subscribe to: Post Comments \(Atom\)